Searching for essence

To look for the essence of vain, earthly life
Travel far beyond the limits of human strife
And search for harmony in the land of amity
Deep, in the green valley of existential affinity

And when (or if) you finally find it
Let it permeate your soul's every bit
And incorporate its force into your spirit
So that you enter paradise before night's last minute

For only when you resolve your life's enigma
After reaching your good goal in self-discovery
Your own heart will drink more divine ambrosia
And your soul will reach levels of high tranquillity

Also, your existence will travel with serenity
On the avenue of universal perpetuity
Where all souls exist in timeless continuity
Aligning well with the laws of divine harmony

For what is this life's essence?
To have, protect and sustain your family?
To have, protect and sustain your country?
To become better spiritually?
To gain more property?
To live with peace, friendship, love, kindness and harmony?
To live according to Divine Law?
To protect and benefit all Nature?
To enjoy without working?
Anyone or all of above or a combination of these?

Do not let the vanity of every-day living destroy your soul.
Make your choice well.
Act accordingly.
Life is too short!

John Kyriazoglou
August 20, 2025
Author of:
Book: AI Management Framework
https://link.springer.com/book/10.1007/979-8-8688-1536-2
For more books see:
https://bookboon.com/en/author/0908031c-ce02-9b86-11e6-6dd97b3999d1